

Strategic Thinking & Problem Solving

The Art of Creating Solutions and Improving Processes

A 1-day workshop designed to give participants a repeatable process for identifying problems and developing more strategic solutions.

Why train your professionals in Strategic Thinking and Problem Solving?

Few skills can impact an organization's success like being able to solve problems and make strategic plans for the future. And yet these critical skills are taught very infrequently in high school and college.

With a systematic, process approach to solving problems and strategic planning, this workshop will transfer those necessary skills to employees at any level and with any background. Few programs offer so much return-on-investment as Strategic Thinking & Problem Solving.

What skills will participants learn?

By attending the Strategic Thinking and Problem Solving workshop, your professionals will learn to:

- ☞ Recognize and define concerns that get in the way of improved business solutions
- ☞ Unlock your creative abilities to think "outside the box"
- ☞ Understand Emotional Intelligence and take responsibility for improving work quality and your work environment
- ☞ Recognize the role of change and the value change brings to your company
- ☞ Develop plans to bring about solutions
- ☞ Effectively communicate plans for improvement and change
